

Dear Murr.

I and the rest of the ship are OK. after our fight and we hope to be home soon. They say that as soon as we sink a battleship we will steam for home. So roll on the battleship.

As we steamed into port yesterday we received three cheers from every warship and merchant ship in harbour and we're beginning to think that we have done something enormous as everyone who passes us in ships yells out, "Good old, " " " " " "

I suppose you read about the action in the papers so I'll pass over that, although I'll say that we had a lot of luck, and that we had a every confidence in our skipper when he led us in against two of the enemy, and I hope he's made an admiral soon.

Well cheers all, another boiler is waiting to be cleaned & love from,
Bill.
